When Saint John's International School was founded, there were less than ten international schools in Thailand with even fewer offering the British curriculum. Today, there are over 100 international schools in the kingdom, offering a wide range of programmes to choose from. What distinguishes us from other international schools is our proven track record of unfailing commitment to our student's education and well-being. Moreover, we are intensely proud of our reputation, history and pivotal role in Thailand's private education scene. We have a student body and alumni that are passionate about Saint John's and what we can achieve together.

Saint John's International School is in a unique position of being a small school that benefits from the resources typical of much larger schools. This exceptional sharing of resources is possible by being a part of Saint John's for Education and enables our Saint John's International School students to have access to state of the art facilities unheard of at school level.

Our fully qualified teachers are mainly from the UK and all have been trained with the latest teaching practices. Our heads of school have a singular aim – to enable our students to achieve their full potential as learners and as members of society. Our examination results continue to improve year on year, surpassing the UK national average and gaining our students entry to top universities in the UK, America and here in Thailand.

We have come very far since we first started. We have and will always cherish the opportunity to guide your children through their first and crucial steps in what we hope to be a happy and fulfilling life.
